Issuer Risk/Creditor Participation ("bail-in"): Any payments during or at the end of the term of the certificates depend on the solvency of the issuer ("issuer risk"). Investors are therefore exposed to the risk that Raiffeisen Bank International AG might be unable to fulfil its payment obligations in respect of the described financial instrument such as in the event of insolvency ("issuer risk") or an official directive ("bail-in"). The resolution authority may also issue such an order before any insolvency proceedings if the issuer is judged to be in crisis. Under these circumstances the resolution authority has wide-ranging powers to take action (so-called "bail-in instruments"). For example, it can reduce the claims of investors in respect of the described financial instruments to zero, terminate the described financial instruments, or convert them into shares of the issuer and suspend investors' rights. More detailed further information is available at raiffeisenzertifikate.at/en/basag. A total loss of the invested capital is possible.

The information presented does not constitute binding tax advice. Tax treatment of investments is dependent on the personal situation of the investor and may be subject to change.

The price of the Capital Protection Certificate is dependent on the underlying's price. Adverse performances of the underlying may cause price fluctuations of the Certificate during the term. If the Capital Protection Certificate is sold prior to the end of the term, there is the risk to incur a substantial loss of the invested capital ("market risk").

The capital protection of 90% of the nominal value applies solely at the end of the term. During the term, the price of the Capital Protection Certificate may drop below the agreed capital protection amount. During the term, the Capital Protection Certificate's price is subject to several influencing factors and needs not develop simultaneously to and in accordance with the underlying's performance. Such influencing factors include e.g. intensity of the underlying's price fluctuations (volatility), interest rates, solvency of the issuer or remaining term. If the Capital Protection Certificate is sold prior to the end of the term, there is the risk to incur a partial loss of the invested capital. Dividends and similar rights associated with the underlying are taken into account when structuring the Capital Protection Certificate and are not paid out.

If the underlying is not quoted in the same currency as the product and if the certificate is not currency hedged, the foreign exchange rate influences the Certificate's price during the term (currency risk).

The value of the structured securities is additionally influenced by changes of prices for future deliveries of commodities traded on the futures market (futures market curve). Certificates on commodities are usually based on commodity futures, which generally have a limited maturity. Before their maturity ("expiration") they are "rolled" into the new futures contract. This can result in either "roll yield or roll losses, depending on the respective market situation. Any such yields or losses are taken into account when calculating the subscription ratio of the certificate.
